GOOSEY, GOOSEY, GANDER GET RICH QUICK, GREAT!

MILLIONS IN NEVADA GOOSE
FARM—WALLINGFORD LASH-ED TO THE MAST.

With assurance of dividends beyond the dreams of human avarice, a number of McGill people have become imbued with the "Get Rich Quick Wallingford Idea," and have formulated plans for the purchase of a goose farm. Although the life of the company is limited to only two years, glittering prospects are pictured in the prospectus, which has just been issued by the enterprising promoters.

Starting out with a capital of $1000 or 1000 geese at the par value of $1 a goose, says the Copper Ore, the organizers anticipate that their small investment will place them on a par with the big moneyed kings of the country, when the corporation loses its entity.

Those who are interested in the goose farm figure that each goose will lay an average of three eggs a week or 156 eggs a year. As a result the company will have on hand 156,000 geese the first year. Statistics show that out of this number 76,000 will be ganders.
Those will be disposed of at the best market price, leaving with the original capital, 80,000 geese, which will lay 156 eggs each. By a process of incubation at the end of the year the company will have in its possession 12,588,000 geese, plus 76,000 ganders sold during the first year. Figuring geese worth $1.50 apiece, dressed, the total receipts from that source will be $18,882,000. The incorporators figure that each goose will produce two pounds of feathers, or a total 25,116,000 pounds, which, when disposed of at $15 a pound, will bring $376,740,000.

The by-products of the farm will not be neglected. The incorporators expect to dispose of the 12,588,000 goose livers for $7,534,000, the same being retailed at 60 cents a pair. The upper and lower bills will be utilized as buttons, and will be sold at 1-8 cents each, the total sum realized being $283,555.
The upper bills will command a higher market price because they have already two holes punched.

There will also be 10,046,400 goose quills, which will be eagerly crabbed up for tooth picks at 10 cents a dozen. This will increase the profits of the corporation by $1,004,640. After deducting the original capital of $1000, together with expenses amounting to $74,000 during the two years, the net profit will amount to $404,324,955, not a small pittance considering the money involved in the transaction.

Mr. Gregory has qualified with his bond, and is now arranging to move to Carson City, where he will reside during his term of office.

HIS DOLLAR BILL; BESTOWED TO CHARITY

Diplomacy doesn't always work, as a certain kind-hearted business man in West Philadelphia has just found out. He says that the lesson was cheap at the price, but at the same time he will employ more direct methods next time he wishes to play the philanthropist.

It happened on the subway the other night. He had just closed a real estate deal at considerable profit and was feeling very generous, so when he saw a poor woman in a threadbare dress carefully count out five pennies for her ticket, and saw that it was the last money in her worn pocketbook, he determined to help her. Of course it wasn't easy, but the man prides himself upon being a diplomat. So, crumpling a dollar bill up in his hand, he stooped over as if picking something up and then, holding it out to the woman, said:

"Madam, here is some money you dropped." He tried to smile significantly as he said it, but she didn't seem to understand and said simply:

"Tain't mine."
"You'd better take it," he said.
"It isn't mine, and it was lying right by you."

The woman shook her head at first, then took it slowly out of his hand and looked at it gloating-ly. The man smiled, well pleased with himself, but an instant later the woman, seeing a man looking down at the platform, rushed up and cried: "Was you looking for a dollar bill?"

"I sure was," answered the man, promptly.
"Well, here it is," said the woman, and the man with a delighted "Oh thanks!" calmly pocketed the sum and walked away.—Philadelphia Times.

VERY "RESPECTFUL"

The villagers used to make love in a solid, stolid fashion. "I'm sure, m'm," said a servant to her mistress, "nobody could have had a respectfuler young man nor what Thomas has been to me. We've been courting two years coming Martlemass, and he's never yet offered to kiss me!"—From "Recollections of a Yorkshire Village."

A SIMILARITY.

"He's quite wealthy and prominent now," said Mrs. Starvem. "and they say he rose from nothing?"
"Well, well!" remarked Mr. Border. "That's just what I rose from —at the breakfast table this morning."

CLOSING THE INCIDENT.

Pulsatilla — Your latest young man, I hear, has written a play or two. Has he produced anything yet?

Euphorbia — Y-yes; the last time he called he produced a diamond ring.—Exchange.

FEDERAL COURT HAS CONVICTED TWENTY-FOUR

TWENTY-TWO MALEFACTORS TO BE SENT TO McNEIL'S
ISLAND.

Thus far in the disposal of defendants at the present term of the federal court at Carson City, Judge Farrington has sentenced 22 male-factors to McNeil's Island. There are 23 more cases to try.

Short termers have been distributed about among the county jail, Washoe getting between 15 and 20, three going to Ormsby and two to Yerington.

United States Marshal Humphreys expects that he will have about 35 for McNeil's Island. All in all this is a record-breaking term for the United States court, and all the defendants are being sent up for serving drunken Indians who want whisky.

TONOPAH MAN INVENTS BIPLANE

J. R. FROBERG INCORPORATES COMPANY IN CALIFORNIA
FOR SHIPBUILDING.

J. R. Froberg, a former Grass Valley carpenter and well-known throughout the southern part of the state, has incorporated an aeroplane company at Martinez, Cal., of which he is the president. Mr. Froberg spent several years of his life while a resident of Goldfield and Tonopah, in perfecting the invention of an aeroplane that borders closely onto the Curtiss type of airship.

With the incorporation of the company, reports received from Martinez, state that work on the first biplane is now under way and is practically completed with the exception of the installation of the engine. The company has a capitalization of $75,000.

COWS OF ARABIA THAT NEVER DRINK

The "wild cow" of Arabia, in reality an antelope, the Bactrian ox, is said never to drink, which is probably correct, for unless these animals can descend the wells they can find no drinking water for ten months in the year. There is no surface water, and rain falls but precipitously during the winter. Only once during my journey did I find a pool of rainwater, caught in a hollow rock, and even this I should have passed by without knowing of its existence had not my camels sniffed it from a distance and obstinately refused to be turned from going in that direction. These antelope, however are provided by nature with a curious food supply especially designed as a thirst quencher. This is a parasite which grows on the roots of the desert bushes and forms a long spadix full of water and juice. The antelope dig deep holes in the sand in order to get at these.—Wide World Magazine.

DON'T FORGET IT, WILL YOU, GENTLE READER

Like the little liver pill, the influence of the newspaper is at work all the time. It is a persistent force always exerted in behalf of its home town. A man back east runs across a copy of the paper, reads a business opportunity—and the town gets a new citizen. Another man discovers in a copy of the paper he picks up that land will bring a return of $200 per acre in spuds—and thereupon he moves. The exploitation of the resources of its locality by the home paper is constantly bringing in new people, new enterprises and new capital. But just because the operation is not accompanied by a lot of skyrockets and a fanfare of trumpets, a lot of people are loath to give the credit where it belongs. It is usually the local paper that is doing the work, however. And don't forget it, gentle reader.

LOST IN MOUNTAINS.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 28.—Thomas Feeney, a resident of Anaconda, is lost in the mountains east of Anaconda and it is feared that he has perished. He was last seen Saturday last, when he left the Callan ranch. For two days searching parties have been scouring the hills.
Feeney's coat, in tattered condition, was found last Monday.
